OUR CHURCHES.

Denominational and Personal.

THE Union Christian Convention, under the direction of the Young Men's Christian Association of this city, which is announced to meet on the 22d, 23d and 24th days of the present month, promises to be an unusually interesting occasion. There will be delegations from all the evangelical churches in Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia, besides visitors from distant parts of the country. The prospect indicates crowded houses every day of the Convention, and an enthusiasm such as our religious community seldom realizes. The spirit that prompted the meeting was a commendable one, unsectarian and unrestricted, and the response of the Christian people is already indicative of glorious results. The Committee of Arrangements are Messrs. Oliver McClintock, John A. Emery and A. B. Riggs, and these gentlemen are busy in preparing plans and accommodations for the convention. It is expected that the different churches will, through their respective families, extend the usual hospitalities of their homes to the delegates. These three days of Christian greeting, prayer and communion may be made a special blessing to every household whose doors are opened to the disciples in the name of Jesus. Let every family who can conveniently—even possibly—entertain a guest or two, report their readiness to aid the good cause by handing a note through the pastor or appointed local church committee to the Committee of Arrangements, that parties may be assigned to their temporary homes at once. The different hotels have responded to this call, proffering free entertainment to a liberal extent, and reduced rates to all. This will give an opportunity to persons who may not have room in their houses, and yet the disposition in their hearts and the means in their pockets to assist in the good work. If we are told "not to be forgetful to entertain strangers unawares;" surely the duty is plain to entertain brethren when made aware of their mission among us.

The Young Men's Christian Association, in its noble efforts to extend the influences of the Gospel in our city, are worthy the confidence of all. They have the sympathy and prayers of all true disciples of the Lord Jesus, and the results of their work shall not be fully realized until the better day and brighter life of heaven.

All the Evangelical Churches of the city and vicinity are requested to represent themselves in the Convention by delegates; those names should be sent to the Secretary as above.

After the regular meeting of the Christian Association this evening, there will be a meeting of the above committees in the Association rooms, and every member is invited to be present.

BISHOP SIMPSON will preach to-morrow morning the dedication sermon of the new Methodist Episcopal Church in Manchester. This edifice is one of the most comfortable and elegant about the cities. The services to-morrow will be of special interest. The pastor, Rev. J. Hollingshead, is a successful laborer, and has the favor of God and the people.

REV. Albert Barnes, for the last thirty years pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, has by the advice of his physician, resigned his charge. Mr. Barnes is one of the most eminent preachers and authors in this country, and has ever had the rare christian courage to resist the title of D. D., although several times proffered.

THE Evangelical Association, a denomination of the Methodistic family, is now holding its General Conference in their church on High street, in this city. There are about eighty ministers in attendance. A large portion of this denomination are Germans, yet there are many large and influential English congregations represented in the Conference. They resemble in some respects the Methodist Episcopal church, there being no lay-representation in their deliberative bodies. Their Bishops, however, are elected every four years, and are not recognized as of any higher order than the common ministry.

ON Sabbath, the 20th of October, a new and very handsome Methodist Church will be dedicated at Amity, Washington county, Pa. The Rev. J. D. Hart, pastor of the churches at Washington and Amity, has been very successful in his ministry there as elsewhere, and is highly appreciated by the community. The Rev. John Cowl will preach in the morning, and the Rev. James Robison in the evening of dedication day.

THE Noonday Prayer Meetings in the First Methodist Church, Fifth street, are still increasing in attendance and in interest. A general impression of good seems to be felt throughout the city, and in some places clear indications of revival in the churches.

THE Washington District Ministerial Association of the Pittsburgh Conference, M. E. Church, will meet in Mansfield, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, November 5th, 6th and 7th. On Tuesday evening there will be a sermon by Rev. A. W. Butts; Wednesday, sermons by Revs. W. P. Blackburn and W. B. Watkins; Thursday, sermon by Rev. D. B. Campbell, and children's meeting to be addressed by Watkins and Butts, and sermon in the evening by Rev. M. B. Pugh. There will be several interesting topics discussed in addition to these services. In all, the occasion promises to be very entertaining and instructive.

MIXED METAPHOR.—A Bishop recently, in a witty sentence, referred to certain Cristians as "thread-gauge," as "exhibiting different individuals at the same time, and as "taking cold." There has been some kind of running off the track on a railroad among the snowy summits of Utah, so to speak!

REV. PHILLIPS BROOKS, rector of Holy Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church, Philadelphia, has received a call to Grace Church, New York, at a salary of fifteen thousand dollars. Mr. Brooks is a radical in politics, and a very popular preacher. He is a young man of extraordinary genius and ability, and a nephew of Wendell Phillips.

THE third discourse of the series on "Gospel Themes in Nature's Elements" will be delivered to-morrow evening in the First Methodist Church, Fifth street, above Smithfield. Special topic, "The Rain."

A NEW and elegant Lutheran Church will be dedicated to-morrow in Greenville, Pa. Rev. Samuel Laird, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, Seventh street, Pittsburgh, will preach the dedicatory sermon. The Pittsburgh Synod is now in session in Greenville.

REV. DR. SPRING, the well-known Presbyterian minister in New York, says the Continentalist, recently appeared at St. George's Episcopal Church in a black gown among the surpliced ministers, and was called upon by Dr. Tyng to lead in the concluding prayer. The world moves, but which way?

THE Sabbath School of the First Baptist Church, on Fourth street, is one of the most orderly and successful in the city. The ministrations of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Dickinson, have brought together a large and intelligent congregation, and the whole Church is in fine spiritual condition.

THE STATE.

Sharswood Probably Elected.

We have tried hard to elect Judge Williams, but the figures have been too much for us. The upshot of it all—according to the best light we have—is, that Sharswood is elected by about one thousand. We do not think the majority will fall below this figure—it may rise it five hundred. The corrections of the original returns yesterday were considerably in favor of Williams, but not enough, we fear, to elect him.

Extensive frauds are reported to have been perpetrated by the Democrats in Philadelphia. Of the precise state of the facts we are not informed, but it is possible that the result may depend on questions growing out of the alleged frauds. The following are the returns reported and official—the latter marked with a *:

Blair Senatorial District.

Official returns from the six counties constituting the Twenty-first Senatorial District, show the election of Samuel McVitty, Republican, and C. J. T. McIntyre, Democrat. In the Legislative district of Huntingdon, Juniata and Mifflin, Capt. H. S. Wharton, Republican, and J. S. Miller, Democrat, are elected.

Twelfth Congressional District.

Hon. W. W. Ketchum, Republican candidate for Congress, has made a splendid run in this district, being defeated by only one hundred and seventy-eight votes. He entered the canvass with the chances largely against him.

Inaction of Leading Southerners.

A correspondent of the New York Times, writing from Georgia, gives the following about leading Southerners:—"The prominent men of Georgia—I mean those who possess in the highest degree the confidence and respect of the masses—take no part in the coming election, and do not say or do anything for or against the Convention. Mr. Alexander H. Stephens is at his home in Crawfordsville, busily engaged on his History of the War of the States, which the National Publishing Company of Atlanta announce as forthcoming very soon. Hon. Howell Cobb, of Macon, is busily employed going his circuit in Southern Georgia, and confines himself exclusively to the practice of the law. Ex-Governor Herschel V. Johnson, of Augusta, although he has 'writ a secret or two' anent reconstruction, does not participate in any way in the election or choice of candidates, but seems more concerned in getting the Supreme Court to pronounce the cotton tax unconstitutional and void. Ex-Senator Robert Toombs, in partnership with his son-in-law, has opened a law office in the town of Washington, Wilkes county, and devotes all his energies to his profession. Hon. Martin T. Crawford and Henry L. Benning, of Columbus, Henry R. Jackson, of Savannah, and others of like prominence, are at their homes, either practicing law or planting. A gentleman who is intimate with most of the above-named gentlemen (with the exception of Mr. Stephens) told me recently, that they rarely talk on political subjects, and if questioned as to their opinion, avoid the subject as much as possible, which they have nothing to do. All those gentlemen are understood to be opposed to the Congressional plan of reconstruction, but they do not make any effort to persuade others to adapt their views."

American Bishops in England.

A London letter relative to the Pan-Anglican synod, speaks of the American Bishops as follows: "For the rest the bishops have had a very good time in London. Special services have been held every morning in most of the churches, and large sums subscribed for missionary work. Last evening there was a conversazione at St. James's Hall. The bishops of Vermont, Louisiana, Rhode Island, Ontario, London, New Zealand, Oxford and Cape Town were present. The Bishop of London has given a dinner to some of his colleagues every evening. The English are astonished to see some of the American and colonial bishops wearing beards. Outside of the ultra church circles the synod has occasioned no excitement and little curiosity. The Times has written it down as of no importance except to the bishops themselves ever since the order excluding reporters was issued. 'S. G. O.,' the well known correspondent of the Times, has also been let loose against the synod, and as soon as the official report is published there will come a hailstorm of criticisms. The American bishops are all in very good health."

STATE ITEMS.

Robert Harrison, while crossing the Monongahela river in a skiff, opposite Webster, was seized with an apoplectic fit, fell into the river and was drowned.

Col. A. K. McClure, now absent in the West, lost $3,000 by the destruction of his barn, near Chambersburg, by fire last week. No insurance.

The Rev. John Anderson, a well known and much respected minister of the East Baltimore (M. E.) Conference, was stricken with apoplexy at Snydertown, Pa., on the evening of the 15th ult., and after lingering until the Tuesday following, was gathered to his fathers. Mr. Anderson was stationed at Sunbury, and on the day when prostrated had preached three times. He was aged sixty-three years.

A fellow named Martin murderously assaulted on Monday, Robert Smith, while the latter was sitting in his father's house in South Huntingdon township, Westmoreland county. Three shots from a revolver penetrated the body of Smith, who it is thought may survive.

Five hundred acres of land near Honesdale, Pa., have been purchased by two gentlemen of New York, for the purpose of cultivating the winter-green berry.

James Clark, an old citizen of Blairsville, Indiana county, and a soldier of the war of 1812, died at his home on Thursday last, at an advanced age. Mr. Clark was at one time a member of our State Legislature.

On Wednesday last a barn on the Wilkinson Farm, Greenfield township, Erie county, was struck by lightning while eight horses were in it, threshing wheat. All were prostrated by the shock, but none were seriously injured. The barn was set on fire by the electric fluid and the grain, threshing machine, etc., burned up.

Stephen McLean, an old citizen of Fayette county, died on the 2d inst, in the eighty-first year of his age. Mr. McLean was born in Uniontown, and was the son of Alexander McLean, who was for a long time County Surveyor, and Register and Recorder of Fayette county for nearly half a century, and one of the persons who surveyed the famous line of Mason and Dixon, so well known in the political history of our country. Although Mr. McLean was in the eighty-first year of his age, he leaves behind him two brothers older than himself.

On Friday night, the 4th inst., the large and splendid flouring mill belonging to Daniel Kennedy, situated in Lawrence county, two miles west of Portersville, was totally consumed by fire. This was one of the best mills in that section of country, and was valued at $14,000. Over one thousand bushels of grain were consumed. No insurance.

Colonel D. B. McCreary, of Erie, who was appointed by Governor Geary Adjutant General of State, but who was prevented from taking possession of the office until his membership in the Legislature had expired, has arrived in Harrisburg, and will relieve Adjutant General Russell immediately. General Russell has filled the office for almost seven consecutive years, to the entire satisfaction of his superior officer and the people. Col. McCreary is an active, energetic young man, and will perform his duties well.

The Finest Grape in America.

Mr. Alfred Speer, the maker of the celebrated Port Grape wine, says it is about the size of the Isabella, and that it is the finest on this continent. He has refused thousands of applications for the plant, as he requires all available cuttings for the extension of his vineyards. He has orders for his wine from Europe. Our druggists have procured some four years old.

QUICK RESTORATION OF THE HEARING.—Within the last few weeks a number of persons who were deaf have had their hearing restored in a few minutes by the superior skill of Dr. Aborn, of No. 134 Smithfield street, in this city.

Cabinet Rumors.

The excitement over the elections has materially abated, and public attention is directed principally to the administration. The rumors of Cabinet changes have become so common as to attract little or no attention, though it is agreed on all sides that the President has decided to make at least two changes, one in the War Department and the other in the State Department. The former is anticipated at once, and the other immediately succeeding the November elections. The principal objection to any removals which stands in the way of the President is the annual reports now in course of preparation by the various Secretaries. To make any change in the heads of Departments now would certainly delay these reports beyond the first of December, by which time they are required by law to be completed for the meeting of Congress. The Intelligencer is singularly silent on the Cabinet changes, and the future policy of the Administration, but the other Administration paper here confirms the intimation of last night's dispatch that either General McClernand, of Illinois, or Frank Blair, of Mo., will be made Secretary of War.

Cabinet Meeting.

The Cabinet meeting to-day was slimly attended, Secretaries Seward and Randall being absent. Among the business considered were the pardons of Alex. H. Stevens and James Seddon, ex-rebel Secretary of War. It was virtually decided to grant the latter.

Sherman.

Lieut. Gen. Sherman had an interview with the President and Gen. Grant and left this evening for St. Louis, via New York. There is authority for declaring that his visit here related in no wise to Cabinet changes.

Grant for President.

The Baltimore American, of this morning, the leading radical paper in Maryland, holds the name of Grant for President in 1868.

The Counterfeit Bonds.

The Treasury Department have made a careful examination to-day of the counterfeit 7-30 bonds, and have come to the conclusion that the engraving was not done in this country but in England. So far but one hundred thousand dollars of the counterfeits have been discovered, and diligent search is being made to see if any duplications of the bonds have been paid by the Department. It appears that the counterfeit bonds have appeared in the market since the 24th of September.

Officers Sent to Richmond.

The action of the Secretary of War, in ordering a large number of relieved officers to Richmond, was done at the instance and suggestion of high military officers of that Department, and with a view to the establishment of a military Court at Richmond, with jurisdiction over all cases of violations of military law or disqualifications within this district. The reason assigned for the change is that by the new arrangement a uniformity of decision growing out of a uniformity of construction of military law will be attained.

Productive Land in Florida.

Returns received by the Commissioner of the General Land Office, show that two hundred and eighteen farms, comprising in the aggregate 15,664 acres, have been added to the productive force of the State of Florida during the month of September last, under the act of June 21, 1866, providing for the disposal of the public lands for homestead actual settlement in the States of Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Florida.

Custom Receipts.

The receipts from customs and the Treasury for the four principal Atlantic ports are averaging about four millions and a half per week.

Maryland's Government.

Four out of five of the members of the Sub-Committee on Judiciary, appointed to investigate as to whether Maryland has a Republican form of government, assembled here to-day. They meet again on Monday, when witnesses will be examined.

Description of Bogus Bonds.

The Secretary of the Treasury will make a report in a day or two on the recently discovered counterfeits of the 7-30 bonds. The department furnish to-day the following defects in the new counterfeit bonds. The points of the star forming the seal are longer than in the genuine and have a slightly blurred appearance, and the red ink of the seal is a shade lighter than in the genuine. The imprint at the bottom of the bond is set differently in the margin. There is an observable difference in the expression of the vignette, representing a female figure, upon the face of the bond, the lines being not so well shaded nor as smooth and uniform in color; in the counterfeit the figures denoting the number of the bond are slightly uneven and the blue ink in which they are printed lacks the metallic and glossy appearance of the genuine. The red figures in the coupons attached designating their numbers are larger than in the genuine. The borders and ornamental lathe work of the coupons appear blurred and indifferently executed, and the white space between the margin of the bond and the coupons is wider than in the genuine bonds. The Government will lose nothing by these counterfeits, as all seven-thirties are made payable to order by the holder when presented for indorsement.

Personal.

Hon. B. H. Hill, of Georgia, who is addressing a series of letters to General Grant in opposition to the reconstruction act, arrived here to-day to see the President.

WASHINGTON, October 11, 1867.

REPORT FROM ADMIRAL FARRAGUT.

Admiral Farragut's report of his reception at Copenhagen is received. He dined with the King by invitation, and many courtesies were extended. On leaving Sir Franklin proved herself the fastest steam frigate in the navy. The Admiral reached Gravesend on the 26th ult.

RECEIPTS FROM CUSTOMS.

The receipts from customs from the first to the fifth of October at the principal ports were $2,402,877.

THE COUNTERFEIT SEVEN-THIRTIES.

It is the opinion of experts connected with the Treasury Department that the counterfeit plate of the seven-thirty imitation bonds was not made in this country. Suspicion as to their genuineness was first excited by duplicate numbers, when by a close inspection with a microscope and comparison of the genuine with the counterfeit, their true character was discovered. About seventy thousand dollars' worth of spurious bonds had been previously redeemed at the Treasury, but the government, it is said, will lose nothing by this, as it has the receipts of the various parties presenting them. The chief of the loan branch, Mr. Andrews, to-day refused rather discourteously to furnish information on this subject, saying he did not feel at liberty to do so under the recent order of the Secretary, with regard to furnishing information to persons not connected with the department.

SENOR ROMERO.

Senor Romero, family and Private Secretary, left this morning for Charleston, from whence he expects to sail on the 15th in the revenue cutter Wilderness. General Banks is expected to sail with them.

MANSFIELD, OHIO.

Special Dispatch to Commercial.

MANSFIELD, Ohio, October 11, 1867.

The Democrats had a jollification here to-night. There was a bonfire on the public park, and a torch-light procession passed through the principal streets, carrying sixty-five torches and a half dozen transparencies. The enthusiasm was not remarkable, probably occasioned by the unfavorableness of the weather, as well as later election returns. The transparencies carried a picture of Seymour in a variety of forms. One exhibited a negro with a big foot labelled "platform," and a white man standing near with the motto "My Christian friend, you are played out." There were several mottoes, among them: "Greenbacks in payment of bonds or nothing;" "How are you, bond-holder;" "Copperheads a good many this year;" "Seven-thirties bonds cancelled or they must be taxed;" "Gold for all or greenbacks for all;" "G. A. R. couldn't win this time." Picture of rooster rampant, "Cock-a-doodle, Connecticut and California, too."

There was considerable cheering in some parts of the city as the procession filed through the streets, returning to the public park. Hon. B. Burns was called on for a speech. He commenced by proposing three cheers for Ohio and Pennsylvania, and for Ohio's next Senator. He told his Democratic friends the next President was to be a Democrat. He called for three cheers for Horatio Seymour, of New York, as the possible candidate. He could not promise positively that Thurman was elected. There was some doubt of it, but he hoped and believed God, who had been with the Democrats in this contest, would find a few more votes to help him through. The Republicans threw down the gauntlet and the Democrats took it up. The Western Reserve forced the issue on the people, and the gallant Democratic party, aided by many honest Republicans, went into the contest with the gallant Thurman, and won the fight against the negro and in favor of the white man's government. He hadn't anything against the negro. He would afford them the protection of our laws, but was not prepared to say thirty millions of white people should turn over the Government to four millions of ignorant, degraded negroes. He glorified over the election of a Democratic Legislature, a fact that secured the turning out of power of the hell-welter of radicalism, Ben. Wade. He hoped if it turned out that Thurman was not elected, the Legislature would send him to the Senate. He called for three cheers for the Democratic nominee for Governor of Massachusetts, John Quincy Adams. He attributed the Democratic victory in a measure to the brave boys in blue and white boys in blue, who were determined this country shall be saved, old Ben. Wade to the contrary notwithstanding.

Mr. Burns was followed by others in the same strain. The meeting was quite noisy in its demonstrations, cheering every time it was called upon to cheer.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, October 11, 1867.

THE VALUE OF A HUSBAND.

The Supreme Court to-day gave a verdict of $5,000 to Mrs. Fillo, whose husband was burned to death in consequence of an explosion of fireworks in the store of Messrs. Jones.

THE BOGUS SEVEN-THIRTIES.

The American Bank Note Company pronounce the spurious seven-thirties as counterfeits. Jay Cooke & Co. received another $10 000 worth from the West this morning. Fisk & Hatch have had $80 000 sent to them, $9,000 of which were received to-day from Buffalo and Ohio. These bonds will be immediately returned. Among the other holders are Heiser & Co., $5,000; Brewster, Southwick & Co., $11,000; Winslow & Co., $5,000; Mechanics' Bank, $5,000. Several other firms have received small lots. Nearly all the counterfeit bonds came from the West, the first received here being sent from Leavenworth, September 17th, and now many come from Buffalo. It is not known to what extent they have been received by the Government, but it is believed the first estimate was much exaggerated. They are received here in small lots, no remittances of them exceeding $10,000.

MURDERER CONVICTED.

Vincent Cady was to-day convicted of murder in the second degree, for the homicide of Professor John R. Livingston, on the night of April 17th.

AFTER THE COUNTERFEITERS.

SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 10.—The steamship Montana, for Panama, sailed to-day with $771,984 in treasure, $510,652 for New York.

There was a squatter riot in the suburbs of the city last night. One man was killed and three wounded. The rioters were armed with rifles, muskets and pistols. The leaders were arrested and admitted to bail.

The Pope Fearful.

PARIS, October 11.—The Presse says that the Pope, while confident of the ability of his forces to successfully resist the straggling parties of invaders, greatly fears that the Italian Government will yield to the popular outcry, and order its troops now concentrated upon the Papal frontiers to march upon Rome and occupy the city.

Iron-Clads Sent to Ireland.

LONDON, October 11.—Three iron-clads have been dispatched from Woolwich to the Irish coast.

The Chinese Rebellion.

Letter from Napoleon.

PARIS, October 11.—The Etendard to-day publishes a letter, which it declares genuine, addressed by the Emperor to Marquis De Lavalette, his Minister of the Interior, and written in August, 1866. In this letter the Emperor explicitly denies that he has any desire to interfere with or profit by the reconstruction of Germany.

Admiral Farragut.

LONDON, October 11.—Admiral Farragut was the guest of Prince De Joinville at Claremont yesterday. The United States squadron, with Admiral Farragut on board, will visit Portsmouth this week, after which the whole fleet will proceed to sea.

The Italian Revolution.

FLORENCE, October 11.—The insurgents and invading parties in the province of Viterbo have been concentrated at Florenso, where they have thrown up entrenchments. Many other places in Roman territory have also been occupied by the Garibaldians. Several regiments of Pontifical troops have been sent out to dislodge them, and the garrison within the walls of Rome at present is very small. A strong Papal force has left Rome to prevent the junction of Menotti Garibaldi and parties under his command with the insurgents at the fortress. The plan of the Garibaldian leaders seems to be to draw the soldiers of the Pope away from Rome, and then arm their friends in that city an opportunity to rise.

LONDON, October 11. Evening.—Judges Blackburn and Mellor have been appointed by the Crown to sit as a special commission for the trial of persons implicated in the riots at Manchester.

Note from Cardinal Antonelli.

GIRENT, October 11.—The Patrie, a well-informed journal of this city, says Cardinal Antonelli has addressed a note to the European powers, in which he charges the Italian government with actual connivance in the revolutionary movements against Rome.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1867.

THE COMMERCIAL is the largest daily paper in the State, and gives daily one-fourth more reading than any other paper in Pittsburgh. It is the only Pittsburgh paper that uses the telegraph liberally, gives full market reports, and all the news of the day.

A LEADING Philadelphia banking house is reported to be a severe sufferer from having in a very large amount of counterfeit Treasury notes in their possession. The discovery of the counterfeits has occasioned a good deal of fluttering in several quarters.

THE New York Democrats are taking ground for Gov. SEYMOUR for President, and claim that by their management of the late State Convention they have materially advanced his prospects. Considering that no military man of sufficient proportions will consent to be the candidate of that party, it is highly probable that they will take a civilian. SEYMOUR is one of no mean order. He was even the side of the rebels from the beginning to the end of the war, and acted as instigator of the New York riots in the middle. His claims, therefore, are of the first order, and his friends have a right to consider him the coming man.

THE election being now over, and both parties somewhat astonished at the results, wise men and some not so wise are extracting from it the lessons which they conceive it to teach. Among the latter class, we reckon President JOHNSON, who is said to have discovered that the election is an indorsement of his policy. His representative in this city and county must have given him a rose colored account of the indorsement here, to have justified the President's inference. The Democrats are drawing their lesson from the election page, and the Republicans are proficients in learning theirs, which had they been a little more observant they might have learned as easily, and with perhaps more profit before election. Another year will be required to determine who has been most benefited by the present lesson.

WE anticipate for the Republican party a more perfect unity of policy and action, in the next canvass, than it has had in the one just past. We have not been unaware of the existence, or of the unfortunate influence, of some transient and incidental hindrances to success in the late campaign. These will be either eliminated or held under control in the future, that the energies of the party may rally upon the purely patriotic ground which properly belongs to them. Individual aberrations must not be permitted to lessen the party strength. It may even be wiser to disown them, as to a a limited extent has been done, and to drop relations to those who fasten to them, than to jeopardise success in an important canvass, by tacitly bearing the burden of an erroneous policy, or a doubtful sentiment. In unity there is strength.

IT was arranged that Mr. JOHNSON should make a speech on the elections, Wednesday night. But the Democrats put their foot on it and the serenade which had been planned did not come off. The cross purposes of the Democrats and Mr. JOHNSON are visible even to the naked eye. The first time he gets an opportunity to make a speech he will claim the result of the elections as an indorsement of him and his "policy," whereas the Democrats put in the claim that it was achieved independent of him—in spite of him, in fact. Mr. JOHNSON harbors the idea that he may yet be a Presidential candidate, and will not be slow to appropriate to himself the entire capital contained in the elections, to that end. These little complications quashed the serenade, and Mr. JOHNSON must get his glorification speech in on some other occasion.

IT SEEMS to be conceded that the Republicans lost Philadelphia through bad management in making their nominations. The suspicion is abroad that politics there are not more free from the vicious element which subjugates everything to schemes of local politicians than other cities. The complaint that "rings" and cabals, usually composed of the least worthy, almost everywhere have far too large a share in the management of the Republican party, cannot be dismissed by denouncing those who make it as croakers. Our nominating system is corrupt and corrupting, and is having a detrimental influence on the strength of the party. Things have been for some time going on the down hill scale in this respect, and a speedy remedy is needed. It is the fashion with some to denounce those who say these things, and point out the necessity of reforming these and kindred abuses, as disorganizers, animated by doubtful fidelity to Republican principles. But the time has come when they who retort thus subject themselves to the suspicion of preferring a corrupt to a pure system, because they can profit most thereby. In Philadelphia our friends have been taught a lesson through defeat. There is no necessity of telling them what it is, or what is their duty. A similar lesson has been taught Republicans in the State at large, and judging from what we hear them saying there is little danger it will not be heeded.

RECOILING COMPLIMENT.

"There is not a single great soldier of the country there never was a Corps Commander in the army of the Potomac, who was not a Democrat before the war."

Whether this is true or not—and we are not going to debate that point—it is a very extraordinary statement to be made by one Democratic paper and to be indorsed by another. The Chicago Convention, representing the Democratic party, declared at a very late period of the war, that it was a failure. During all stages of the war, the Democratic party, as such, stood opposed to its prosecution, denouncing in the most unequivocal terms the mode in which it was carried on, and the ends it aimed to accomplish. Party lines were run, and party measures adopted, with the single purpose of breaking down the administration of Mr. LINCOLN, because of his persistency in maintaining the contest till its ends were accomplished. The verbal flattery of the Democratic papers, coming in at this late day, is a poor catalpasm for the bitter reflections on the Generals and the war, in which the same papers indulged, while the war was in progress.

But this is not the aspect in which we proposed to consider the above statement. As a specific statement, it accords with what we have scores of times declared in general terms, that the Democratic party was deserted on patriotic grounds by large numbers of the best and ablest men when the war broke out. The admission of this, now made by the Post, proves also another thing, viz: that a higher grade of patriotism ruled among those who went out of the party to fight for the Union than among those who staid in it to grumble about the war, to resist the calls for soldiers, to proclaim, on the very eve of triumph, that the war was a failure, and to nominate the biggest failure that there had been in the war as their candidate for the Presidency. This is legitimately implied in the above commendation of the Generals which might as well have been extended to distinguished civilians and to people of all professions, ranks and classes so far as to say that they were Democrats before the war. The more these are exalted in praise the severer is the reflection on the lot they left behind them.

But this is not all. The cream of the joke, so to speak, remains to be noticed. It is this, that these men, distinguished for their patriotism, who broke embarrassing party ties and shook off Democratic associations for the sake of the Union—those who were "Democrats before the war," are not Democrats after the war. A large majority of them are acting with the Republican party, and deem themselves now acting from patriotism rather than party motives, as much as they did while the war was raging. Exceptional cases, we admit, but the general statement that we make is true. Mr. JOHNSON is a specimen brick of a very small pile.

They were Democrats before the war. Sorrowful consolation in such retrospects! Those who boast of their former associates should imitate their patriotic virtues that made the separation necessary. Republicans honor these men, not for what they were before the war, but for what they were in the war and for what they are now—for their principles and not for their associations with a party that they abandoned with disgust.

ARRAIGNING CONGRESS.

It is easy to ascribe the political reverses of the present week to the over-doings and short-comings of Congress—but is it just? Having for several elections gone before the people for their indorsement of Congress, because its policy and measures were wise and necessary, and having obtained in the fullest measure popular approval, it seems to us that the denunciation of Congress now—which certain Republican journals are indulging in—as the source of the present reverses, is neither consistent nor in accordance with the truth. At every step of the war were we made to see how we had erred. It is true that we now perceive how even some of those things for which we have sought and obtained popular approval, might have been better and more wisely managed. But perfection, especially in the management of great affairs having no parallel in our history, was not to be expected. Congress did its work with a patriotic, and, we believe, mainly wise perception of the great objects to be accomplished. Because we can to-day see wherein it might have done better, we are not justified in condemning Congress, even if our reverses were in any manner ascribable to it. If we were to concede that the errors of Congress had occasioned our present reverses, we should still hold that it would be better sense to draw wisdom from the fact and avoid errors ourselves in the future, than arraign a body of men for whom we have for years sought and obtained popular indorsement.

THE people of Ohio have this year had the question of negro suffrage before them, and, on a vote, have given it a decided negative. This decision is not inconsistent with their support of the reconstruction law embracing negro suffrage in the States lately in rebellion. The cases are entirely different. In the South, it was not on the question of color that they were admitted to suffrage, but one of loyalty—the only basis on which civil government can stand. A few loyal whites have been found in the South—few compared with the rebel element—but not enough to sustain themselves against the overwhelming odds, and not enough to constitute the State Governments respectably republican in form. In this anomalous condition, the enfranchisement of the entire loyal people, without distinction of color, was a necessity. As this manifestly just and wise measure embraced the large proportion of the negro race, it falls into the same category as their emancipation and their enlistment as soldiers—to save the Republic from detriment. The question decided in Ohio is altogether different, and rests on entirely different grounds. The decision of it cannot, therefore, be interpreted as opposed to the reconstruction policy of Congress, and there is no inconsistency in voting against the Ohio Amendment and at the same time supporting the Republican policy of reconstruction.

The Ohio Constitutional Amendment.

Notwithstanding the overwhelming defeat of the equal suffrage constitutional amendment in the State of Ohio, the Republican papers on the Reserve declare themselves ready for another tilt on the question. The Mahoning Courier, in declaring for another contest, says:

"We still cling to the justice of equal suffrage in a free and republican country, and will continue to oppose class legislation till all men, irrespective of color, are equal before the law. This is the platform on which we stand."

The Canton Republican says:

"A year ago we could not indeed, would not have received one-tenth so many votes as said 'yea' on Tuesday. A year hence at the same rate of progress it will be triumphantly vindicated. Great progress has been made, and in the right direction. Let these convictions cannot change, but our labor and zeal for the right must be redoubled. This will easily be, and will be as soon as the delusory of over-confidence, and the danger of defeat open their work."

THE New York Gazette condemns the expensiveness of the amusements in that city, and says that a reaction is setting in. It costs five dollars to provide a gentleman and lady with two seats at the Academy of Music or Hetori's, to say nothing of carriage hire and supper. In the estimation of the Gazette, the result will be that "some shrewd rival manager will start an Italian Opera Season at reduced rates, and the great mass of the music loving public will go where they can gratify their tastes with the least damage to their pockets. This is the era of individual economy, and one of the first applications of the system is to the luxuries of music and the drama."

THE New Orleans Times relates an incident that illustrates the nervous susceptibility of yellow fever patients. On Saturday night last, Mr. F— was considered by his physicians as out of all danger, and was told that he could have his clothes changed on Sunday morning. At a late hour in the night, a gulf steamer announced her arrival, as usual, by firing a gun, and the report gave the patient a nervous shock which caused him to expire in the course of five minutes. "That," said he, "is my death shock." The startling utterance proved prophetic. He turned over and died forthwith.

THE Harrisburg Telegraph hopes the Editor of the New York Tribune will keep his fingers out of the Pennsylvania Republican pie, and accuses him of having steadily aided Sharswood throughout the canvass just closed. Mr. Greeley says he always feared Sharswood would be elected. The Telegraph is evidently of the opinion that Mr. Greeley wanted to have him elected.

As a precautionary measure, Gen. Grant has ordered three light batteries to Fort McHenry, Baltimore—a precaution rendered necessary by the half-developed purposes of the nureconstructed rebel element there. The fact is a significant one.

SOME of the Democratic papers look as though they had gone into the Shanghai and Brahampootra trade, such an array of poultry do they exhibit on the election news.

Who Did It?

"There was a very heavy vote polled against the amendment by young men—particularly such as were casting their first vote—out of sheer prejudice against the negro; an unreasoning impulse, that partook more of the element of mere pride of opinion and ambition to be thought independent in political sentiment than of any settled conviction of duty. Personally these voters cared but little about the matter, and did not care to use any argument, save that they 'could not go the nigger.'

"There is one feature in the defeat of this amendment which deserves consideration. We have been very much deceived in that vote, as we thought the amendment would fail through indirection—that is, the failure to vote either way would defeat it. But the result shows that 'the noes have it by the sound;' that it is defeated by direct votes against it, showing that it was lost not because men did not care enough about the question to vote upon it, but because they are directly opposed to it."

Reduction in Dry Goods.

The N. Y. Independent of this week says: A. T. Stewart & Co., who have generally taken the lead in putting down prices, reduced their prices on American prints about one cent a yard, and, as these goods have been the finest on the list, and have helped to sustain the market, the other kinds of domestic cottons, of course, immediately responded by a decline in some cases to the extent of two cents and a half on certain styles of brown goods. There is nothing remarkable in this fall; for, while the raw material is daily declining in price, nothing but a very lively demand could have maintained prices for the manufactured article.

WHETHER the African has or has not a capacity for education equal to the Caucasian has long been a mooted question. It is reported from England, however, that James Solomon, a pure African from the Gold Coast, came some years ago to that country to be educated, having received no teaching save what he obtained in a native school. This young man has just taken a first class certificate in the Oxford middle class examination, and is about to matriculate at the London University.

By a recent act of the British Parliament, Hebrews who close their factories and workshops on Saturdays till sunset are permitted to open them from sunset till nine o'clock "for females and young persons" to work till that hour.

PRESIDENTIAL.

The Galena Gazette Places the Name of General Grant at the Head of its Columns for our Next President.

(Special Dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.)

GALENA, ILL., October 7.—The Galena Daily Gazette of this evening, referring to the action of the Jo Daviess County Republican Convention of Saturday last, raises the name of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant for President, subject to the decision of the National Republican Convention. The editor says:

"We this day place at the head of the columns of the Gazette the name of Ulysses S. Grant, of Illinois, as a candidate for the office of President of the United States, to be supported at the election to be held in November, 1868. We do this in full accordance with our own sense of its propriety, and also for the more public reason, that the sturdy Republicans of Jo Daviess county, at their convention, held at Elizabeth on the 5th instant, gave such action their full indorsement. The state of the country, the perils of the times, and the character of the man proposed for this high office are such that no apology is demanded for this decided action. But little more than one year will transpire before the people will be called to the election of a President and Vice President. The vital welfare of the country demands that those offices be filled by single-hearted statesmen, pure patriots, unyielding friends of the rights of the people individually, and of the highest well being of the collective whole. This general condition is a necessity. Freedom of opinion with all is the rule of action; the Republican party must carry the next election; a union of action is the essential of success. Time is required to perfect this harmony of free intelligent action. Hence the Republican citizens of Jo Daviess speak thus early, that opportunity may be given for a comparison of opinions with others, that errors may be corrected and doubts removed, if they exist, that we may all unite in the accomplishment of our most momentous and noble purpose, bound together by the wisdom of an enlightened judgment, and moving in the power of an irresistible faith. With feelings more sacred to the country than love of life, we present the name at the head of our columns for the consideration of others, never to be lowered, we trust, except in the humility of gratitude to a higher power than man, as a sign of His approval in enduring victory."

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

The trial of John H. Surratt has been printed at the Government printing office at Washington. It comprises two large volumes (legal size) of more than seven hundred pages each. It is not for sale.

A calculating correspondent of a British journal has discovered that a famous race horse named "Achievement," has literally won his weight in gold. The horse, he says, is ray-nosetted by twenty-eight thousand sovereigns, which, in round numbers, weigh four hundred pounds avoirdupois.

The Catholic clergy of New York and neighboring dioceses have taken in hand the question of completion of the cathedral on Fifth avenue. Since the death of Archbishop Hughes the work had languished, but now it will be resumed, and the magnificent marble walls will rise rapidly. The cathedral will be perhaps the finest church building in America.

A financial writer makes the following estimate of the value of a few of this year's main productions of California: Wheat, 7,000,000 sacks, $15,000,000; barley, 9,000,000 sacks, $5,-600,000; oats, 1,500,000 sacks, $2,200,000; wool, 8,000,000 pounds, $2,000,000; other products, $1,000,000; lumber, manufactured, $28,800,000. Wine, it is supposed, will reach 3,500,000 gallons this year.

In a pound set in Gardiner Bay, Sag Harbor, a turtle was recently caught which measured nine feet in length and fifteen feet in width, from one flipper to the other, and weighed over a thousand pounds. The turtle was sent to the agricultural fair at Cincinnati, whence he probably goes to Barnum's.

PERSONAL.

—Mr. Seward has gone to Auburn on a melancholy errand—to superintend the erection of marble monuments over the remains of deceased members of his family. He has lately lost his wife and his daughter.

—The widow of Miramon, who was shot with Maximilian, has been made a princess of the Austrian empire, and the title is to be hereditary. Unless it be accompanied with some material aid, it will be an empty honor, availing little to the possessor.

—Eugene Pereire was, only twelve years ago, one of the wealthiest bankers of Paris. He was worth millions of dollars, and, when at the hey-day of his prosperity, he gave $1,000 to the charity of the Notre Dame des Arts. He was far from thinking he was securing an asylum for his eldest daughter, and giving her a school where she should be taught to earn her daily bred—as was her destiny. The vicissitudes of life are very great in Paris. Many rich people there are wealthy for a day. Eugene Pereire at last committed follies which destroyed his credit. Credit invoicated him, and he was a rich man again. Then came a time of a thrill of sympathy ran through the audience at Notre Dame des Arts, as a prize was awarded to Miss Pereire, the daughter of Eugene Pereire. She is a young girl, but will be taken care of at this asylum.

—Jay Cooke, the great banker, owns an island in Lake Erie, which is called Isle Gibraltar, and to the luxurious retreats of which he sends his friends to enjoy themselves in fishing and bathing. The editor of a Sandusky paper has been shown the banker's printed rules by means of which his friends travel, at his expense, to and from this Gibraltar Island to their homes in Ohio. Both the coupons for the cars are sent in with the bills attached, and the rich man settles up the traveling expenses. His expenses are great, but his income is equal to that of half a dozen European princes.

—According to the Boston Traveller, General Sheridan is a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, all of whom are styled "Comrades." Hence it will be seen how appropriately he addressed the torchlight gathering as "Comrades." It is because he is a comrade that the Grand Army everywhere have turned out to welcome him.

—DR. DAY, the Superintendent of the Binghamton (N. Y.) Inebriate Asylum, publishes a letter, in which he advocates the practice of totally withdrawing from the habitual drinker all liquor, in opposition to the prevalent idea that the patient must be gradually weaned from the use of alcoholic substances, and founds his assertion on the fact that he has treated 2,500 cases of drunkenness during the past ten years. He believes that the man who has been in the habit of drinking a quart of liquor per day will suffer more by being allowed only a pint and gradually from within keeping the whole time than he will if he is kept altogether from the use of it. The blood of such patients is, in his opinion, poisoned by the substances which alcoholic liquors contain, and he does not, therefore, see the necessity of administering any more of such poisons, even in the infinitesimal doses. He believes that nothing short of absolute abstinence will keep the inebriate cured after he is raised up from his former life of degradation.

The Daily Commercial

THE FUEL OF THE FUTURE.

Petroleum as a Substitute for Coal.

The New York Commercial Advertiser gives a history of the experiments in England and America on the employment of petroleum as a substitute for coal. Having published everything that has been done in this way in this country, we give what the Commercial Advertiser says of the experiments in England: The progress of the experiments that have established the availability of petroleum for fuel forms an interesting chapter in the history of modern discoveries. Eminent scientific minds in the Old and New World have, for the last few years, devoted their attention to the subject, and the Governments of the United States and Europe have aided their researches. It is somewhat flattering to our national pride to know that, so far, American inventors appear to be ahead in practical results. A brief review of the discoveries that have been already made in both countries will more clearly illustrate the progress that has been attained, and afford a basis for calculating future results.

experiments were made at Milwall, in the presence of scientific men and Government officers which afforded satisfactory results. The experiments were made with shale oil, which is obtained by distillation from a kind of bituminous slate that abounds in various parts of England, and which is inferior to American petroleum in many respects. The mechanical appliances were crude and imperfect, but the results point the way to further improvements.

The boiler was a common one, and the oil was conducted to a red hot internal plate or pan, where it was converted into inflammable gases. A large amount of carbon was deposited by this process upon the generator, which was seriously obstructed in consequence. This defect was remedied by the introduction of steam, which was decomposed into its component parts of oxygen and hydrogen. The oxygen thus disengaged, united with the red hot carbon in the generator, producing highly inflammable carbonic oxide gas, which affords the motive power. This principle underlies all the experiments for the adaptation of petroleum for fuel. The fluid is converted into gases for combustion, the same as coal, but with this difference, that the process is much more economical in the case of petroleum. The Milwall experiments demonstrated that every pound of carbon converted into gas represented a gain of heat sufficient to convert eleven pounds of boiling water into steam.

The results at Milwall satisfied all present that mineral oil could be rendered available for fuel. The liquid was supplied under the boiler by a pipe. Five pounds of steam were obtained in three minutes, and the rate of evaporation was very high at the rate of twenty-two pounds of water to one pound of oil, being a proportion of four to one as compared with ordinary coal. The experiments were manifestly imperfect. The boiler was not adapted for the purposes required, and the other appliances were of a crude and temporary character, but it was apparent that the question at issue was fully demonstrated. Experiments on a somewhat similar plan, conducted under Government auspices at Woolwich Dock Yard, presented nearly the same results as were obtained at Milwall; but were interrupted by offensive gases that escaped in consequence of the imperfect construction of the boiler. Nevertheless, the naval officers and engineers present were satisfied that the employment of petroleum as fuel on board the monitors was equally desirable and practicable.

THE EXPLOSIVE QUALITIES OF PETROLEUM.

The chief objection to the use of petroleum as fuel occurs from the supposed dangers of explosion. There is some foundation for this objection, but not to the extent imagined. There is no more risk with petroleum than with fire. It is not explosive like gunpowder. A red hot bar of iron thrust into a petroleum tank will simply impart its caloric to the mass of oil, while a spark applied to gunpowder will explode the whole mass. The oil cannot explode. It must be converted into gas before an explosion can take place. Petroleum cannot explode in an open vessel. Spontaneous combustion is impossible, the only dangers consist in repression and convertibility into gas, and these can be guarded against. Petroleum is as safe as house gas, safer than steam, gunpowder, or many of the forces of nature that have been brought into subjection to man.

NATIONAL IMPORTANCE OF PETROLEUM FUEL.

In hydro-carbon fuel, such as abounds in the United States, we have a means of establishing a maritime ascendency upon the ocean. Its superiority over coal on ocean steamers is apparent, and if our merchants manifest their characteristic enterprise they will promptly avail themselves of the advantages to be derived from the use of the new fuel. Petroleum is, or probably may be found in almost every country, but the United States enjoy a virtual monopoly of the article. It may become to us what coal is to great Britain—an element of wealth and power. We should not suffer the prize to escape us. With petroleum for fuel we may at once compete with England for the carrying trade of the world. In petroleum Nature has supplied us with a force of almost boundless capacity. The firing of a steam boiler may be rendered as simple and safe as the lighting of gas in a drawing room or counting house. It only remains for us to utilize the volcanic force of Nature in order to achieve a magnificent destiny. How to do this is being rapidly discovered. Thinking minds and active hands are busily engaged in the work of clearing away our ignorance of the capabilities of the wonderful element of strength and power that gushes forth from the world's great heart. It may take some years to bring the new fuel into general use. "Fulton's Folly" had to encounter opposition, prejudice and ridicule before its true worth was recognized. The distance from the first steamboat on the Hudson to the first ocean steamer is not greater than the interval between the petroleum experiments of to-day and its general employment on steamboats and locomotives. That it will take the place of coal and wood in domestic consumption appears almost certain. It can be employed to cook our food, warm our houses, and light them with equal facility.

AND
GRAND
Presentation Enterprise,
HAS PROVEN
A WONDERFUL SUCCESS.
CAPITAL, TICKETS AND PRIZES
INCREASED FROM
$1,287,148 to $1,500,000

Our Agents have received orders for over 100,000 Tickets more than our original issue, and the Managers being desirous of filling the orders and supplying the demand, have decided to increase the tickets from 1,287,148 to 1,500,000.
The Committee appointed at the first Concert have decided to distribute the Prizes at the third and last Concert, which will take place at
IRVING HALL,
IN NEW YORK CITY,
ON
Thursday, Oct. 24th, 1867.
TICKETS ONE DOLLAR EACH.
A Prize with Every Tieket.

PROSPECTUS.

A number of the leading Bankers and Merchants of New York, in consideration of the great success which has attended many of the Charitable Presentation Enterprises of the day, have formed themselves into a company, with the view of inaugurating an entirely new one, which, while it shall be of a fair profit, shall offer greater advantages to ticket-holders than have been offered many of those conducted upon a perfectly legitimate and business basis, shall be free from those objectionable features which have characterized many of those enterprises.
To this end they have consigned the sale of tickets, and the registering of the same, to Clark, Webster & Co., Bankers and Brokers, No. 62 Broadway, New York, who will keep the records in their custody from the day of the Grand Presentation Entertainment, when they will be handed over to a committee of ticket-holders, elected to make an impartial distribution of presents.
A reference to a number of presents and the general plan of distribution, given below, will convince even the most skeptical of the great advantages which all accrue to all who participate in the enterprise, and the Commercial and Financial standing of the Company, and the Managers and Bankers thereof, will, they hope, prove a sufficient guaranty of the fairness and impartiality with which everything in connection with the scheme will be conducted, and that the interests of ticket-holders will be most strictly watched over and guarded. In fact, it is the desire of the Managers to conduct every transaction for the mutual benefit of whoever shall purchase a ticket, and would gladly welcome any scrutiny which could in the slightest degree diminish the profits which are likely to accrue to all who invest.

CITY MATTERS.

IN TOWN.—Kirby smith, late Major General in the defunct Confederacy, arrived in the city yesterday, on business of the Southern Telegraph Company, of which he is President, and attracted considerable attention, being "short in B bit," who subsequently attracted a fine in the field. He will leave this afternoon for Louisville, Ky.

BURSTING OF A WATER PIPE.—The water pipe in the new sewer on Fifth street, in front of Bailey & Bell's dry goods store, bursted about half-past one o'clock yesterday afternoon, the water damaging some goods in front of the store to the amount of some five hundred dollars. The water was at length shut off and further damage prevented.

AN ELOPEMENT.—Chief of Police Scott has received a communication from W. P. Solomon, of Enfield, Halifax county, North Carolina, stating that a reward of $50 will be paid for the arrest of one Captain William Jordan Walker, who ran away from Buffalo Springs, Virginia, on the night of September 14th, with Solomon's wife and a quantity of her husband's money. The husband thinks the parties are to be found in Pittsburgh.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Yesterday morning a man, whose name is not known, was killed on the Pennsylvania Railroad, near Derry, Westmoreland county. He was attempting to jump on the rear end of an eastward bound freight train, but missed his footing and fell on the track. Another freight train following immediately behind, passed over him, and instantly killed him, mutilating his body frightfully.

RUN OVER BY A WAGON.—A little son of Mr. Joseph McGrady, of Temperanceville, was seriously injured on Wednesday evening, by being run over by a wagon loaded with coal. While the wagon was standing in front of the toll gate the little boy climbed on the hind wheel of the wagon, and when the team started was thrown to the ground and the wheel passed over his head, fracturing the skull, crushing the jaw bone and lacerating the flesh in a shocking manner. He was taken to Taylor's drug store, and medical aid summoned. The physician has no hopes of his recovery.

TAKEN TO THE PENITENTIARY.—Yesterday Sheriff Cluley conveyed to the Penitentiary John Hunter and George Hoover, the former convicted of felonious assault and battery, and the latter for larceny. This is the fourth time that Sheriff Cluley has, in the discharge of his duties as Sheriff and Deputy, conducted Hoover to the Penitentiary, and while on the way to that institution yesterday, he remarked to the Sheriff that he was ashamed to walk along the street with him, as the people would be sure to see them together and would guess their destination.

RUMORED SUICIDE.—It is rumored that Alexander M. Hyatt, the party charged with committing an outrage on the person of Miss Kate Waldron, of Boston, on First street, a few days ago, disappeared suddenly on Wednesday evening. His wife came from Kentucky about three weeks ago, and has since been boarding with him at the Red Lion Hotel. She started to the theatre yesterday, but being unwell during the day after her departure, he disappeared. He was under ten thousand dollars bail, and it is feared by the sureties of the bondsmen that a suicide was started for the purpose of aiding his escape. If this suspicion is true the bondsmen are liable for the money. His trunk and clothing disappeared with him, an indication that he is still living.

Violation of the Revenue Law.

Considerable excitement was caused in the Allegheny market yesterday morning, by the arrest of ten of the hucksters doing business there, who had neglected to take out their special $10 licenses. The revenue officers returned eighteen delinquents, and ten of the number were taken in charge by the Deputy United States Commissioner McCandless, and seven held for a further hearing. Three were required to give bail to appear at the Commissioner's office. Several of those are sted have been notified two or three times to take out their licenses and have neglected to do so, and they will now be required to pay the costs and fines for their neglect. Those who have not yet procured their licenses will save trouble and expense by attending to the matter at once.

The Assault on Officer McMullen--Motion to Release McCarty on Bail.

W. C. Morcland, Esq., counsel for David McCarthey, who was arrested for being concerned in the assault which was made on officer Daniel McMullen at Richter's saloon in the Fifth ward a few weeks ago, yesterday afternoon made a motion before Judge Shaw to release the defendant on bail, and requested that the Court sit at the sum. Two witnesses, one the proprietor of the saloon and the other Diebold Slagle, a bar tender, were examined in relation to the affray, were sworn. Slagle stated that McCarthy was standing by the bar when a man whom he supposed to be McMullen, when McMullen was struck, and did not strike McMullen. After this the beer glass was thrown.

A further hearing will be had in the matter on Monday.

Public Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—There was an overflowing audience at the Opera House last evening to witness Mr. Booth as "Hamlet," one of the "Seven Ages," and all were delighted with the performance of these gifted artistes. This afternoon Mr. Booth will appear at the matinee performance as "The Stranger," with Mr. Wallack in the character, who will find an able lnmersonator in Emilie Melville, who will appear as the beloved Isabella to "Richard III," a character made famous by his father, whose memory is fondly cherished by all. "Crooked Back Tyrant" is well remembered by many among Edwin Booth's audiences during the week.

On Monday evening, the young tragedian, Frank Mayo, will commence an engagement.

THE AIR WE BREATHE and the food we eat may be contaminated on one hand with noxious exhalations, and the other improperly chosen to sustain in health the powers of life; yet there is in every human constitution an inherent power of resistance to the powers that constantly tend to destroy it.

The Great Being who formed man's body meant that it should serve the purposes for which it was made. Not a bone, muscle, hair, fibre, not the slightest part, even imperceptible to the naked eye, is useless or without its significance in the human organism. The health of the individual man is preserved and maintained in the same way that the health of society and of nations are secured and perpetuated. If the natural laws are trampled on and disregarded the natural health and life of him who disregards them must suffer the penalty of such infraction. There is no escape from it. It is inexorable. There is no cure for it but to retrace the erring way and take a new direction, in which, if possible, to avoid the errors and abandon, with heroic courage, the vices of the past.

If the causes which produced a broken and shattered constitution are avoided, and proper remedies applied to the decaying and life-threatening parts, health and vigor cannot fail, but return with their manifold blessings to reward him who makes use of them. The plan which we propose in this volume to restore health to those of broken and feeble constitutions, will, we are almost sure, when our advice is practised in the conduct of those under our treatment, be sure of success.

We can hardly claim for our theories either newness or originality, only in this, that we have developed and applied remedies whose virtues were demonstrated to us in lectures as far back as twenty-four years ago, and have, since then, formed a part of the Materia Medica of every enlightened nation on the habitable globe. If our theories are true, our practice must be productive of good to mankind, and they will be benefited more than we possibly can be.

The proper employment of those faculties which God has imparted to every one, cannot, we opine, otherwise than be beneficial to our fellow beings, who may be the owners of bodies filled with distempers or failing to decay for want of the proper remedies or their proper application when needed. We have remedies which we believe to be peculiarly adapted to some of the most fatal and least understood diseases which are known to afflict the human frame. A success such as we have never known before. The cures we have recorded have warranted us in the confidence in which we have arrived, and we can present to-day, in Allegheny county, where we reside and have resided for twenty years, scores of living witnesses to cures, the parallel of which are nowhere to be found.

It is but just to others that we should say that these diseases have been mainly of a cachetic, scorbutic or pulmonary character.

We have studied with more than ordinary care the source of these diseases, and are fully confirmed in the belief that if the human system is restored to its original health it will be strong enough, not only to vanquish diseases of long standing, usually denominated chronic, but at the same time be proof against the inception of those whose course is rapid, and the imprint of whose teeth is left in the organs that have been assailed, and which have been attempted to be destroyed.—Dr. Keyser's Books on Human Health.

Deafness, Hard Hearing, Discharges from the Ear, Polypus of the Ear, Catarrh, Ozena, Blind Eyes, Inflammed Eyes, Every Species of Sore Eyes Successfully Treated by Dr. Keyser, 120 Penn Street.

Blind Eyes Restored.

The case to which we alluded some weeks ago, of Christiana Fisher, of Beaver county, is now entirely continued by the appearance of Miss Fisher herself, who to-day called on DR. KEYSER in person, to thank him for his great skill in restoring her TO ENTIRE AND PERFECT SIGHT. Miss Fisher had been nearly blind for four months. She was so blind that she could not distinguish the way object and so as to make out what it was. The case is remarkable, as hundreds of cases like hers are doomed to that there is no cure, and nothing can be done. She was under DR. KEYSER'S treatment for two months, and to-day she appeared to him through her brother, Simon P. Fisher, slight, hopes were entertained of her ever getting her sight. Her case is well known in the neighborhood where she resides, and has been regarded as one of extraordinary recovery.

LOUISA FISHER, (her niece.)

September 27, 1867.

The cure above referred to was entirely cured by medicine to cleanse and purify the blood. It is in this way that hundreds of cases of diseases are cured by enriching the blood, and enabling the system to repair lost and failing tissues.

Since the introduction of Mishlers celebrated Herb Bitters—the great household remedy of the nineteenth century—many and various dangerous decoctions have been palmed off upon the public by unprincipled men, and the lives of all who have innocently supposed that they were to derive some benefit by using these vile stuffs, have been put in jeopardy, and in many instances irretrievable injury has been done to the physical system. We wish to caution the public against these worthless and death dealing compounds, and to recommend the use of Mishlers celebrated Herb Bitters, which can be procured from any respectable druggist. A Chance for Young Men.

The regular Evening Sessions at the Iron City College, corner of Penn and St. Clair streets, having been resumed for the fall and winter, an unusually good opportunity is offered to our young men, clerks and mechanics, at a very small outlay of money and no sacrifice of valuable time, for acquiring a good practical business education. The reputation of the College and the high standing of its professors and teachers are too well known in this community to require comment necessary. We know of no way in which a young man can better improve his leisure hours than by pursuing a course of study in this justly popular and remarkably successful business college, than which there is no superior in the country.

Justifiable Boldness.

A young man asked a beautiful girl the other evening at the party, what she used upon her hair to make it so gloriously rich and lustrous. Her first impulse was to administer a severe rebuke to his boldness, but when she saw his ridiculously frizzy locks, she pitied rather than condemned him, and so answered, "Barnes' Vegetable Hair Restorative" is the only hair preparation I admit to my toilet. To it I owe my handsome hair.

What Constitutes a Skillful Physician and Surgeon.

Men of skilled proficiency in the medical profession are true blessings to human society, when their knowledge and experience are legitimately used in healing the ills which are the universal doom of our nature. Some physicians are more successful in their practice than others who may have spent just as much time and money to render themselves proficient, and who fail in acquiring a great reputation for the reason that nature never intended them for the position, and their time and talents and opportunities are really wasted in trying to accomplish something that is entirely beyond their reach. To be successful in almost any avocation, a man must have his heart in it. He must possess a natural adaptation for it, and so far as the study of medicine is concerned, he must bring to his aid in finding out the causes of disease and solving the methods of curing them, all that science has contributed to the healing art, and by his genius understand how to operate quickly in every case so that his patient's suffering so may be terminated as speedily as possible, his disease effectually drawn out of his system, and his health permanently reestablished. When he can perform this delightful duty, after years of long standing, in which the disease has had uninterrupted sway and has become thoroughly seated, and almost baffles his skill in trying to overcome it, but finally yields to his power, as well as to cure the ordinary affections which only require moderate abilities rightfully applied to subdue them, then he may justly be pronounced entitled to more than ordinary distinction. But there is a vast variety of diseases, of which some are more stubborn than others, and many physicians devote their practice to the treatment of such exclusively. Thus they make certain d eases a specialty, and by reason of long continued practice in there specific departments of medical knowledge become highly expert, a degree of skill which is more than sufficient to guarantee to the patient a speedy and thorough restoration to health. A physician may be proficient in all the different branches of his science, and yet it is impossible that he can succeed in all cases. He must fail sometimes, as we have all taken knowledge of the fact, perhaps, in the persistent but unavailing efforts of some faithful family physician, whose unstring efforts to save the life of a dear kinsman or bosom friend, deserved a better reward. We wish it were otherwise, but it is not. A physician who devotes his whole time in mastering a particular class of diseases in which he has unusual natural interest, is rarely un successful. No matter how intricate and difficult the case may appear to others, he sees at a glance where the trouble lies, and he knows precisely what steps to take in order to effect a cure. And the longer his practice continues the more scientific he becomes in his treatment, and his fame, which at first was confined to a little circle, begins to spread far and wide, and he soon finds himself famous in his profession, and suffering humanity, hundreds of miles away from his abode, seeks his aid to rid them of the ills which destroy its peace and threaten its life. For many years past the treatment of the eye, ear, throat and diseases tending to consumption, has been a specialty with many physicians in Europe, among whom we could enumerate a dozen who have attained the highest distinction, but it is our purpose to call attention to only one of them for the reason that he is now a resident citizen, and thousands living in this section of the country are ready to substantiate all that we desire to say about him. Of course, we refer to Dr E. S. Aborn, the distinguished eye and ear surgeon and throat and lung physician, who has 134 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh. This remarkably successful gentleman has wrought more wonderful cures than our space would permit us to enumerate. From time to time many proofs of these facts have been made public through our columns, giving names and residences, so that the most skeptical person has had the opportunity afforded to him for ascertaining the truth of Dr. Aborn's reputed skill, and as a proof that he is held in high esteem by his professional brethren for his rare ability in the most unqualified indorsement from them has likewise been given in the same manner. Dr. Aborn is regularly educated in the science of medicine, and has attended various colleges and hospitals in Europe as well as in the United States. He graduated with the highest honors and since that time has devoted himself exclusively to his profession. His extensive travel in various parts of the world has enabled him to become familiar with a large class of obstinate diseases ranging from the humor in the blood to disease. Everywhere people are complaining of unusual debility, lassitude and depression. The symptoms are generally forerunners of an approaching crisis. Consult them early—before they lapse into something worse—with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the most effective antidote to malaria that the vegetable kingdom has produced. Its operation is three-fold—invigorating, depurative and antibilious. Free from any ingredient that is in the slightest degree prejudicial to health, and containing the juices and extracts of the rarest medicinal herbs, it is immeasurably superior, as a defensive preparation, to any other tonic, herbal or bitter, as all proved in the thrilling practice. A course of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS is, humanely speaking, a perfect safeguard against intermittent and remittent fevers.

VITALITY RESTORED.

Incontrovertible Evidence of Dr. Aborn's Skill.

For two years I had been painfully afflicted with a disease of the throat and lungs. Had lost my appetite was much reduced in weight and constant pains through my chest; was very weak: life was but a burden to me: in vain I had tried eleven physicians, providentially, three years ago I met a gentleman who had been restored to health by the eminent physician, Dr. Aborn, of 134 Smithfield street, and I immediately applied to him and placed myself under his treatment, and immediately received relief and continued to gain so rapidly until to-day I am entirely cured of all the pain in my chest, and the cough and my appetite perfectly restored, so that I can eat and digest as much at one meal as I could in three days for two years previous to Dr. Aborn's treatment.

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Coal Merchant, South Pittsburgh.

Another Remarkable and Speedy Recovery.

The following additional testimony to the efficacy of Dr. Aborn's treatment has been handed us for publication:

I have been afflicted with an affection of the throat and chest and pain in the side, accompanied by a constant cough, for eighteen months. My friends believed that I had the consumption, and acting upon the advice of one of them I applied to Dr. Aborn three weeks ago, and placed myself under his care. I gradually grew better, and am to-day quite restored to health and vigor. The cure has been a remarkable one, and I take pleasure in recommending other sufferers to call at once upon Dr. Aborn. Invisible Poisons.

The Medicis and the Borgias fortified their system with powerful antidotes against the subtle poisons with which they used to destroy their enemies, and which they feared might one day be employed against themselves. There are invisible poisons, almost as deadly, against which few of us think of taking any precautions. These banes are in the air. When the atmosphere is surcharged with them, as it sometimes is at this season, epidemic fevers ensue. The summer which has just closed has been a most remarkable one. The amount of rain that has fallen has been enormous, and the exhalations from the soil have been, and are, dense and copious almost beyond example. These exhalations excerise a pernicious influence on the vital powers, and predispose the system to disease. Everywhere people are complaining of unusual debility, lassitude and depression. The symptoms are generally forerunners of an approaching crisis. Combat them early—before they lapse into something worse—with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the most effective antidote to malaria that the vegetable kingdom has produced. Its operation is three-fold—invigorating, depurative and antibilious. Free from any ingredient that is in the slightest degree prejudicial to health, and containing the juices and extracts of the rarest medicinal herbs, it is immeasurably superior, as a defensive preparation, to any other tonic, herbal or bitter, as all proved in the thrilling practice. FINANCE AND TRADE.

FRIDAY EVENING, October 11, 1867.

There was a good deal of trepidation in bank circles to-day, felt in consequence of the Seventy-Thirty counterfeit bonds. No one as yet can tell where the loss will fall. The private circular from the banking house of Jay Cooke & Co., New York, under date of yesterday, says: "Before the noon call of the Government Board it became known upon the street that counterfeit $1,000 notes of second series 7-30s had been thrown out at the Treasury, and this report caused much excitement and very extensive overhauling of collaterals, and at the Board some disposition to sell them at ¾ concession upon opening prices. Sales were made at 105¾, but soon after 85½ was bid, and they close at that, without any offerings. This fact also affected the later issue of 5-20s; 64s sold down to 105¾; 65s (in small amounts) to 104¾; July 65s to 106¾, and 67s to 107. But at the close there was no pressure to sell, and it is probable that we have seen the worst of the scare. The notes in question have come in small lots from the West and a few from Boston. No amounts appear to have been offered here direct.

—Governents to day are firm, and the old 5-20s show an advance of ¼. McVay & Co's quotations show the following prices:

—The sharp turn in the new directorship of the Erie Railroad Company in unanimously reinstating Mr. Drew as one of the Directors, after being left out in the regular election, appears to have improved the stock instead of depressing it.

—It is followed by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, that drawing a check on a bank in which the drawer has no funds, and uttering it, is fraud, both on the person to whom it is negotiated and on the bank. Case of Peterson vs. Union National Bank. It is fraud in the holder of a check to present it for payment, when he knows the drawer has no funds in the bank to meet it. The holder of a check deposited it in the bank on which it was drawn, knowing that the drawer had no funds to meet it, it was passed to the holder's credit and charged against the drawer. Held, that this was not payment of the check by the bank, and that the holder could not recover the amount from the bank. This decision is of importance to a class of persons who are in the habit of "kiting" checks, giving "memorandum" checks and checks dated ahead. All such practices are frauds under this decision, and if the checks so uttered are not stamped as promissory notes they are also in violation of the United States Internal Revenue law. Persons who are guilty of drawing checks when they have no funds in bank very soon lose their credit, and have their accounts closed by the banks, and may consider themselves lucky if they escape prosecution for fraud.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, }

Pig Metal.

With continued steady consumptive demand for iron, prices, perhaps, are substantially the same as at date of our last report.

Stocks of standard forge descriptions continue light, and with current receipts barely equal to the consumptive demand, the lower grades are neglected, and to place large lots of slight concessions on the part of holders would be necessary.

Foundry irons, except the common grades, are scarce. Consumption, however, is also light.
